

- Page 1: Some roads lead to Dättwil! The image shows parts of the new MIP440.
- Page 2, 3: The inventor and his "Angela". Rudolf Hug won the first price in the "Swiss Youth research" contest in 1970.
- Page 4: A developer's workplace showing bits and pieces to build a high speed camera.
- Page 6: PIP production: the PIPs shown are used by the Swiss Air-Rescue (REGA) as an emergency system in the event of the main system failure.
- Page 8: An outdoor application to measure water amount and temperature of rivers in Switzerland.
- Page 10: The High Speed Camera we design and produce for our sister company AOS during a crash test.
- Page 12, 13: The image shows a rescue helicopter saving lives in avalanches and forests with a PIP and thermal cameras.
- Page 14: The Hydroptère, a French yacht, covered the Channel between France and Great Britain in a new world record. Navigation is being done with a PIP9, and weight control with a PIP8.